Get prepped

Preheat the oven to 180°C/160°C fan-forced. Grease and line the cake tin with baking paper. Drain the pineapple slices. Measure 200g butter (for the cake) and set aside at room temperature to soften. Measure 30g butter (for the sauce) and set aside. Divide the brown sugar into three separate bowls: 200g in one bowl, 60g in another bowl and the remaining 40g in a third bowl.

TIP: Weigh out your ingredients before you start to speed up your baking time!

Start the cake

In a medium saucepan, combine the butter (for the sauce) and 40g brown sugar. Cook over medium heat, stirring, until the sugar is dissolved, 2-3 minutes. Pour the sauce into the lined cake tin. Place the pineapple slices, in a single layer, on top of the sauce.

Bake the cake

In a large bowl, add 200g brown sugar and the butter (for the cake). Beat with electric beaters until light and fluffy, 2-3 minutes. Add the eggs, one at a time, and beat until smooth. Fold in the basic sponge mix and milk with a spoon until just combined. Transfer the cake batter to the cake tin covering the pineapple. Bake for 45 minutes to 1 hour or until cake is golden brown and cooked through. Set aside to cool in the tin, 15-20 minutes.

TIP: Using room temperature butter helps the batter get light and fluffy!

TIP: To check if the cake is done, stick a toothpick or skewer in the centre. It should come out clean.

Make the coconut caramel

While the cake is baking, wipe out the saucepan and return to a medium heat. Cook the coconut milk and 60g brown sugar, whisking until well combined and turned to caramel, 5-8 minutes. Set aside until thickened.

TIP: The caramel will thicken as it rests!

Toast the coconut

Heat a medium frying pan over a medium-high heat. Toast the shredded coconut, stirring occasionally, until golden, 2-3 minutes. Set aside. When the cake has cooled, place a serving plate on top of the cake. Carefully flip the cake over and remove the tin to reveal the pineapple top.

Serve up

Sprinkle the cake with the toasted coconut. Slice and serve drizzled with the coconut caramel.

Enjoy!
