Eat me first

Laksa is taking centrestage tonight, with prawns as its leading lady. Our version is a take on the Singaporean laksa lemak, which uses coconut and kaffir lime to draw out the Asian flavours.

Fancy a Drop?

We recommend pairing this meal with Riesling or Chardonnay.

1. Get prepped

Bring a medium saucepan of water to the boil. Thinly slice the red onion. Finely chop the garlic (or use a garlic press). Thinly slice the snow peas into matchsticks. Roughly chop the Asian greens. Remove the centre veins from the kaffir lime leaves, then very finely chop.

TIP: The kaffir lime leaves are fibrous so you want to cut them into small pieces!

4. Prep the garnish

While the laksa is simmering, thinly slice the long red chilli (if using). Cut the lime into wedges.

2. Cook the noodles

Add the udon noodles to the saucepan of boiling water and cook until softened, 2 minutes. Drain and refresh under cold water. Add a small drizzle of olive oil to prevent the noodles sticking together.

5. Add the prawns

Add the Asian greens, soy sauce, fish sauce and brown sugar to the laksa and stir until combined. Add the banana prawns and simmer until the prawns turn opaque and start to curl up, 3-4 minutes. Remove from the heat and squeeze in lime juice to taste.

TIP: Add a splash of water if the soup looks too thick.

3. Start the laksa

In a large pot or saucepan, heat a drizzle of olive oil over a medium-high heat. Add the onion and cook, stirring, until tender, 3-4 minutes. Add the garlic, Southeast Asian spice blend (see ingredients list) and chopped kaffir lime and cook, stirring, until fragrant, 1-2 minutes. Add the coconut cream, water and crumble in the vegetable stock (1 cube for 2 people / 2 cubes for 4 people). Bring to the boil, then reduce the heat to medium and simmer until thickened slightly, 5 minutes.

6. Serve up

Divide the drained udon noodles and snow peas between bowls and spoon over the laksa soup. Top with the coriander and chilli (if using). Serve with any remaining lime wedges.

Enjoy!
